

The client creates a new user document in their database and sets up the user's session.